But once I pass this way,
And then—and then, the silent
Door

Swings on its hinges—
Opens . . . Closes—
And no more

So while I may
With all my might,
I will assay
Sweet comfort and delight
To all I meet upon the Pilgrim
Way.

For no man travels twice
The great highway
That climbs through darkness
Up to light,
Through night
To day.

COUNCIL TAKES
BIDS TOTALING
$94,120 FOR CITY

Westinghouse Awarded
$79,650 Generator
Contract

CONDENSER COSTS $14,470

Pierce Oil Co. Balks at Municipal Control of Lines to New Hotel

The City Council last night awarded the bid to the Westinghouse Company for a turbo-generator and the switchboard for the power plant. The figure given on this bid was $79,650.

The Elliott Company was given the contract for the condenser at $14,470, making a total of $94,120 for the new equipment, which is expected to be installed by next fall.

The council was told by Councilman J. A. Hathman that the Pierce Petroleum Corporation would not consent to the city controlling the power and water lines to the Pierce Hotel on Highway 40. The oil company wants to buy the line and control it itself. It was decided that the city would build and control both water and power lines along No. 40 to Clinkscals Road.

Bids on a crane to handle the new equipment at the water and light plant will be received on April 15.

The council adjourned until next Tuesday at which time the new city officials will be installed.

NIGHT SESSION IS HELD BY WALKER

State Rests in Jennings Case—Change of Venue Denied

Judge A. W. Walker held a night session of the Boone County Circuit Court from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock last night to hasten the trial of the State against Leonard Jennings and Judge H. A. Collier would be able to be on the bench today.

The trial was delayed about three hours yesterday afternoon when the defense questioned the validity of the affidavit of information charging Jennings with the burglary of the hardware store of George A. Laxton & Son on Feb. 5, 1929 in Sturgeon, because the paper had not been signed according to statute.

The defense wished to invalidate the paper so that the plea of not guilty could be withdrawn and a plea of guilty entered instead. The court conceded that the paper was not correct, and ordered the paper to be correctly signed and filed, but Judge Walker overruled the application for a change of venue.

Chief witnesses for the prosecution were Claude and Pete Powers.

The night session closed when the state rested its case.

SAYS EDUCATION IS ADJUSTMENT

St. Louis Man Speaks to Boone Co. Religious Council

Education is a process of adjustment, of experience and adventure, and it is the task of the leaders of youth to guide and direct these experiences, according to Ferron Troxel of St. Louis who spoke on "Purposeful Teaching" at the general session of the Boone County Council of Religious Education at the Baptist Student Center this morning.

Education alone is not complete unless it gives a spiritual interpretation of life, he continued. Religious education should have an institutional aim, creating a sense of loyalty to the church; a scriptural aim, giving definite scriptural information; and an evangelistic aim, bringing about a desire for personal commitment through a steady growth in education, he stated.

A report from the treasurer of the organization closed the meeting.

The delegates attending the convention are: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ahmann, the Rev. E. A. Eigenrauch, Clarence L. Ahmann, Mrs. Clarence Ahmann, H. Brun, Paul, Emma, Anna and Dorothy Brun, all of Hartsburg; Mrs. C. R. Gordon, L. M. Short, Mrs. Ethel M. Peeler, Mrs. R. E. Palmer, Mrs. A. A. Harmon, the Rev. Luther Wesley Smith, Noel E. Edwards, Mrs. T. E. Gilliam, Mrs. Guy V. Head, Mrs. Kenneth I. Brown, and Mrs. J. B. Kyd, all of Columbia; Fernon Troxel, St. Louis; John W. Bell, Woodlandville; C. H. Ross, St. Louis; H. W. Becker, St. Louis; Martha Haase, New Franklin, and Elsie May Fenton, Hinton.

PARIS, April 4 (U.P.)—The government of France today manifested, with a state funeral, its deep sorrow at the death of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

The funeral was slightly less elaborate than that recently accorded to Marshal Ferdinand Foch, but it was equal to that of General Maurice Sarrail last week and to the funerals of many other French heroes.

In spite of a bright sun the weather was cold. But thousands, bareheaded, lined the short route from the embassy to the American Holy Trinity Cathedral.

The morning newspapers again praised Herrick, referring to him as "the greatest ambassador ever sent to France."

Premier Poincare, Aristide Briand, and other government officials, hurried back from their Easter vacations to be present. The whole diplomatic corps attended. General Lasserre represented President Gaston Doumergue. Other mourners included General Gaudin, the military governor of Paris; General Dubail, the grand chancellor of the Legion of Honor; and members of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies.

TO DISCUSS PLAN
OF TROOP RATING

Scout Leaders of Central Missouri Area
to Meet Sunday

A plan of area-wide troop rating will be discussed at a meeting of all the Scout leaders of the Central Missouri Area to be held at local Boy Scout headquarters Sunday afternoon. Col. A. M. Hiltch of Booneville, Area Scout commissioner, will preside.

The final plans of the troop rating system are to be put into effect, with any changes that may be suggested by the Scout leaders. Probably twenty-nine of the thirty-five troops in the Central Missouri Area will participate.

The troop rating plan, which will run for five weeks beginning April 8, will take into consideration all the items ordinarily considered as part of a good Scout program. Grading according to the observance of these items will be undertaken, with troops receiving banners according to their standing.

Some of the items are the holding of regular troop meetings, regular Scout attendance in uniform, regular attendance of officials, content of the meetings, church attendance, passing of tests, securing of new recruits, community service, and hikes. Reports are to be filed each week on the points received from any one of these qualifications. At the end of the five-week period, troops with an average of 80 per cent or better will receive banners marked "satisfactory," troops with averages of 70 per cent "standard," troops with averages of 60 per cent "unsatisfactory."

Local Scout executives have held conferences in each town in the area for the past few weeks, and support of the troop rating plan is practically assured. There are seven towns in the area, each containing several troops. Columbia has more troops than any other town, having eleven active troops.

Practically all Scout officials in the area will attend the meeting Sunday afternoon. While similar plans have been put in effect in other areas, the results, as far as a troop rating plan has not been carried out in Columbia for a year or more.

They were in Venice one day and visited the lace and glass factories. In Milan one of the most interesting things they saw was the original "Last Supper" painting by Leonardo da Vinci. They spent a day in the Italian Alps. The temperature was 8 below zero.

They were in Strasbourg and Kiel, Germany, for part of a day. From there they went to France and traveled through the battlefields. The boys arrived March 4 in Paris.
